

NO STAKING POLICY

for

Centennial Park

Effective January 1, 2006, the Metropolitan Board of Parks and Recreation no longer permits events that require stakes to be driven into the ground or tents that require stakes to support them in any area of Centennial Park. This No Staking policy is to protect buried electrical and fiber optic lines and a newly installed irrigation system in Centennial Park.

If you are planning an event in Centennial Park, please make arrangements to use tents that do not require stakes. Options for weighting your tent include: sandbags, six inch (or larger) PVC pipe filled with poured concrete and embedded with eyebolts, or sturdy containers filled with water or other weighted materials.

Failure to properly weight your tent may result in damage to you or others for which you will be liable.
